GREAT CANNON BATTLE AMAZES PARTICIPANTS

FLANKING MOVEMENT ATTEMPTED BY ALLIES CHECKED BY GERMANS

The Anglo-French left wing is exerting every ounce of strength to turn the flank of the German general Von Kluck, who is reported as having received heavy pan-forcements while the German left, according to a continually worded announcement in Berlin, is making equally strenuous efforts to outflank the French right by yonst Verdun.

Under ordinary weather conditions the Aardschek road, which has been for the season that Verdun heavily fortified must fall before the French right can be so seriously threatened, but on the German right the heavy rain have made such a mess of the valley of the Oise that the allies are hardly likely to move along what would be their natural course until the German front north of Soissons has been driven back. President Wilson told callers today that he was earnestly and peacefully trying to do what he can towards establishing peace in Europe. In this instance he urged the newspapers not to publish anything that will place this government in a false or loathly light. He said he was particularly displeased over the publication of a story which declared "It is understood that the president plans to call a world conference." Such stories, he said, may operate to break down his efforts for peace. The President was particularly solicitous that newspapers publish only such stories that were based on accurate information or on ideas that are at least tenable.

Fire Prevention Day Is To Be Observed

Friday, October 9th, is State Fire Prevention Day, that date having been designated as such in remembrance of the great Chicago fire. Accordingly, Mayor Frick, along with the executives of the other cities in the state, has issued a proclamation, requesting a general observance of the day. The Ohio State Fire Prevention Association, Charles E. Hinman, of Columbus, chairman, has also issued a bulletin to the city officials all over the state, calling attention to Fire Prevention Day.

In his proclamation, the mayor calls upon the citizens of the city to inspect their premises, inside and out, with a view of locating and eliminating every fire hazard, especially with relation to heating, lighting, stoves, etc. This is the time of the year when preparations are made for the fall and winter.

The mayor has listed the following suggestions, which, if carried out, will go a long way to ward off the danger of fire:

- Do not use paper shades on electric or other lamps.
- Do not use a stove pipe that runs through a room partition.
- But look, cement or metal under gas or coal stoves.
- Keep all fire extinguishers in good working order.
- Close fire doors and shutters every evening.
- Keep stairways clear at all times and place no stock in them.
- Keep stock away from doors and windows.
- Keep aisles clear of chairs or any other obstructions.
- Keep premises clear so that firemen may have free access.

The State Fire Prevention Association calls particular attention to connections for gas stoves, which have been responsible for numerous fires throughout the state during the past few years.

Gochik pastor of St. Mary's church, Monday. Father Gloeckner's parishioners are in dire straits. The men have been on strike since April 15 and are sorely in need of food and clothing. The 20 pupils of St. Mary's school have not been able to attend school because of a lack of clothing. In fact, the school has just made a report that 2,500 children in Belmont, Jefferson and Harrison counties are unable to attend school because of the need of clothing. Women's clothing is also badly needed. Father Gloeckner himself has not derived a cent of revenue from his parish since April but has been living all in his power to help the needy. It was through some Portsmouth friends who visited him recently that the true state of affairs became known. Father Gochik then wrote the Catholic press at St. Louis and ten other cities, asking for help. A special edition will also be taken up at St. Mary's, and the need of clothing, women's clothing is also badly needed. Father Gloeckner himself has

THREE MEN ARE SAVED FROM A WATERY GRAVE

It fell to the lot of Scott "Seely" Ware to save the lives of three men, who would otherwise have probably met death in the Ohio river Sunday morning.

While fishing in the Ohio river near "The Point" Sunday morning, Mr. Ware's attention was attracted to a spot about 100 yards east of where he was fishing. A man, who apparently was unable to swim, had gone beyond his depth. His two companions were vainly trying to save the man from meeting a watery grave and a moment later they were beyond their depth. It was then that Ware performed his great rescue work, which was so spectacular that he is in line for a Carnegie medal. Jumping into the river, he got hold of the first party and succeeded in shoving him into shore, where he was taken charge of by a friend who accompanied Mr. Ware. The latter then plunged back into the Ohio and succeeded in saving the other two men. Several times the hand-to-hand battle to keep one of the men from going down became thrilling, but Ware, who is a splendid swimmer, never lost his head and succeeded in turning both men to shore. Two of the men soon recovered from the shock, but Ware and others had to work with the first man for some little time before he was entirely out of danger. His lungs were filled with water, and several times it looked like their efforts would be of no avail, but the man gradually recovered.

So intent was Mr. Ware in saving the men that he forgot to ask them their names. He says their ages ranged from 25 to 30 years, and that they spent an hour or two fishing before one of them decided to paddle around in the Ohio. Some of the crowd of on-lookers who gathered on the bank of the river at the scene of the rescue were Mr. Ware, who was a former Portsmouth resident, and is widely known in this city.

From what could be gathered the dance went well at the dance on the farm. The whole trouble of four or five of the merry-makers appeared on the scene partly intoxicated. Suddenly a shot rang out and the next moment it was heard that young Frazier had been wounded. The bullet from his own gun had entered at the elbow, coursing down the wrist and not penetrating much deeper than the skin. Some declared that the shooting was the result of several others trying to disarm Frazier while others said he accidentally discharged the weapon himself in the excitement.

$930,000 Per Week Paid for Hudson Cars

$235,600 in One Day
By Individual Buyers

The day before this is written—September 15—the sales made to users on the HUDSON Six-40 were 132 cars. That is, yesterday buyers of new cars paid out for HUDSONS $235,600.

The average for the past four weeks is $930,000 per week—because that is the limit of output. We are building and selling 100 per day. That is five times as many. Five times, mark you—as we sold at this season last year.

And we had no war then—no talk of war's depression. Our average sales have more than tripled since this war began.

That Means That Hudsons Rule This Field To-Day

In July, when we brought out this new model—we tripled our output to cope with demand. Yet on August 1—despite our best efforts—we were 4,000 cars oversold.

We shipped by express nearly 1,000 cars to minimize delays. That's an unprecedented act. But thousands of men waited weeks for this car, when every rival had cars in plenty. Nothing else could satisfy a man who once saw this new-model HUDSON Six-40.

Five-Fold Increase an Amazing Thing

Consider this fact: The HUDSON has long been a leading car. Every model has for years been designed by Howard E. Coffin.

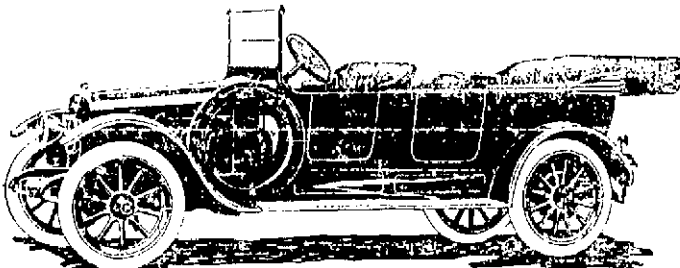

In the HUDSON car Mr. Coffin has brought out all his new advances. And the demand for his models, long before the advent of this HUDSON Six-40, gave HUDSONS the lead in this field. The first HUDSON Six, inside of one year, became the largest-selling Six in the world.

Think what a car this must be—this new HUDSON Six-40—to multiply by five in one year. And to do it at a time like this. Think now far it must outrank all the cars that compete with it. Think what tremendous appeal it must make to our buyers.
